

Vittorio GUARNIERI - CV

Vittorio Guarnieri graduated in Material Science Engineering from the University of Trento, Italy. He began his career at ITC-irst's Microsystems Division, focusing on MEMS devices for agro-food, environmental, and biomedical applications. He gained extensive experience with standard clean-room equipment. In 2009, he became a product manager at Z2M srl, a start-up Company, developing microchip devices to combat counterfeiting. In January 2013, he joined FBK-CMM as a program manager, overseeing projects to enhance performance. In April 2016, he became a Research Liaison Officer at FBK's General Secretariat in Brussels, managing relations with the European Commission. In January 2024 He joined the SD (Sensors and Devices Centre) of FBK working in the Program Management Strategy and Support Group (PMSSG) focusing on supporting innovative activities towards companies.